Traditions

Traditions are the passing of information, beliefs, and customs by word of mouth or by example, from one generation to another. West Virginia Wesleyan College has many unwritten traditions which are continued as each year passes.

Wesleyan students enjoyed participating in a wide variety of these traditions. Many of the most popular traditions were seasonal, such as Orientation, Homecoming, Christmas on Campus, Spring Sing, and Graduation. Several of the Wesleyan traditions definitely exceeded the expectations of the campus community. For example, Christmas on Campus was a community service event which benefited the children of Buckhannon and the surrounding area. Graduation was a timeless tradition which honored the graduates of Wesleyan at the end of spring. Events such as these are engrained in the institution of West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Greek Week at Wesleyan definitely brings out some of the best facial expressions the student body has to offer. As Theta Xi competes in the tug-of-war competition several of the brothers cheer on their teammates to pull harder. Greek Week is one of the most popular traditions for the Greek organizations.

Left: Spring Sing is a tradition at Wesleyan like no other. It is a time when the campus organizations get an opportunity to show off their musical talents. A theme is voted on by the student body and then announced during Homecoming Weekend. The groups then perform in the chapel and are judged based upon different criteria.
(For more on 2004 Spring Sing see pages 12 and 13.)

Above: Welcome Home: Homecoming in the Hills 2004 was the theme for the traditional homecoming weekend. October 15-17 saw several exciting events take place. On Friday, registration and the James Myers golf classic occurred. Saturday was busy with such events as the spirit walk, football game, coronation ceremonies, and the alumni banquet. Finally, the weekend wrapped up with the annual Homecoming Chapel Service. Photos by Paul Roncone

Nothing brings out the Christmas spirit at Wesleyan like the annual Hanging of the Greens. Several Wesleyan students volunteer their time to help decorate the Chapel for the holiday.

From Founder's Day Convocation to the halftime ceremonies, Homecoming at West Virginia Wesleyan is a time of excitement and anticipation for current students and alumni.

During the annual Awards Convocations, Bess Park Reynolds awards Kaitlyn Rexrode with an award for performance in both theatre and dance.

Wesleyan traditions represent a wide variety of campus life activites. From orientation to graduation, the Wesleyan community celebrates a full academic year from August to May. Highlighted traditions include Greek Week, Bacalaureate, Graduation, and Orientation.

Whether on the playing field, in the classroom, or singing in the choir, Wesleyan students receive recognition for their outstanding performances. Achievements at West Virginia Wesleyan College support the college's mission for students who exeeed expectations.

Campus walkways adorn fall colors, including Homecoming banners. Alumni enjoy revisiting the campus, rain or shine.

Homecoming

The weather was not favorable; however, the game was exciting and the fans were rowdy because it was Homecoming. The rain was overshadowed by the death of a classmate and friend Scott Stein. The football team responded in Stein's absence as they, and the rest of campus, dedicated the weekend to Scott and won their game.

I was fortunate enough to win Homecoming King and I could not have been more appreciative. Kristen Buttermore was crowned Queen; Kristen and I were lucky enough to get the only rays of sunshine the entire day during the halftime ceremony.

The team played great and exploited WV Tech in the second half, which turned into a blowout; the fans were there for it all, amongst the hail storms. This Homecoming was a day that could have been miserable because of the events preceding that day; however, the campus turned misery into extraordinary. As the weekend was dedicated to Scott, the campus family became closer. Homecoming at Wesleyan was something that every student would remember for a lifetime!

Christmas on Campus

Christmas on Campus is an annual tradition at West Virginia Wesleyan College. Christmas is a season of loving and sharing, and Wesleyan's students showed this like no other. Christmas on Campus is a special day set out of the Christmas season in order to show a love for the children of Upshur County.

The day involved hours of planning and activites. The organizations of WVWC set up booths, each of which had a different activity, such as face painting and making Christmas decorations. The children were able to go to each booth and spend their day making various crafts and playing an assortment of games. The children were divided into small groups, which were led by volunteers from Wesleyan. The volunteers led their groups from booth to booth, and at the end of the day, they took them to their special treat--Santa Claus, when each child was presented with a bag full of gifts from Santa.

The excitement experienced by each child during Christmas on Campus was what prompted the Wesleyan students to participate. The expression of love and happiness caused a sense of pride in each and every person involved.

Left: Several of the children from the local community visit campus during the annual Christmas on Campus event. Many of the sororities host different activites for the children to participate in. Here, Kappa Phi sisters have a craft project they are helping the children complete.

Hanging of the Greens is an annual event held every December on Wesleyan's campus. The event allows for students to celebrate the spirit of Christmas while taking time to decorate Wesley Chapel.

Wearing gloves to keep from getting all scratched up, Richard Tench tosses in the greens so the other volonteers can start making the decorations.

Melissa Younkin takes time out of her busy schedule to help prepare for Hanging of the Greens. Melissa is lending a hand to prepare the garland for the annual hanging.

This Wesleyan student looks overwhelmed at the task of decorating the Chapel for Christmas. Many hours of student labor result in this wonderful tradition.

Over the past year the Theatre Arts Department at West Virginia Wesleyan College was at it again. With such productions as "Anything Goes", "Pippin", and the traditional "Danceworks" performances, the students and faculty spent several hours auditioning and practicing for the big shows.

Standing on the front steps of the Administration Building and gazing across College Avenue, one can see the grassy lot where a long-time dream is getting closer to becoming reality. It is at this site where the new Virginia Thomas Law Center for the Performing Arts will be built. During Homecoming Weekend, an announcement was made that alumnus John M. Law '40 made the lead gift to name the performing arts center in memory of his wife Virginia. Groundbreaking ceremonies included the traditional golden shovels and several honored guests.

Spring Sing

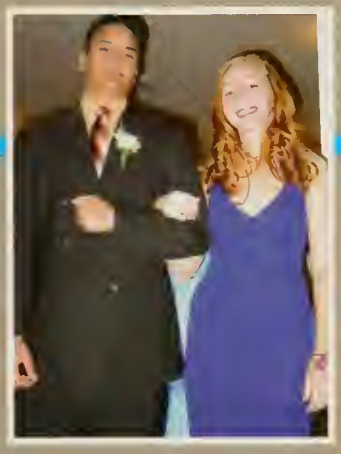
Trying to get the audience to particpate in their act, one of Chi Phi's brothers peforms part of his dance moves in the aisle of the chapel. Audience participation accounts for part of the final score.



Seniors Heidi Burger and Jacob Steele were nominated for Spring Sing king and queen. Although they did not receive the honor, both enjoyed participating in the coronation ceremony.

President Haden prepares to open the envelope so he can announce the 2005 Spring Sing queen. President Haden enjoys being involved with a variety of activites on the college campus.

President Haden, who this spring announced his retirement for the 2006 academic year, continues the tradition of welcoming incoming freshmen and their parents during orientation weekend. From winter to spring, the campus stays alive with student activities.

President's Convocation welcomed returning students to spring semester. President Haden and the Wesleyan community honored two current Wesleyan students who returned from military duty in Iraq. Danny Marple, sophomore education major, and junior Jake Bergeron, political science and history major, will return full-time to classes in the fall. The spring semester's expectations were inclusive of Greek Week competition and spring sports' championships.

Seniors

My senior year at West Virginia Wesleyan has been an amazing experience. There was a lot of excitement and anxiety coming into this year and it has made this experience one of a lifetime. I was not sure how I wanted to remember my senior year or how I would leave my legacy. I had certain goals that I wanted to achieve before I graduated and I was worried if I could achieve them all before I left. Well, I think this year went above and beyond what I was expecting...

Class of...

Only at Wesleyan did I find teammates who worked with me, sisters who supported me, friends who laughed with me, and a man who loved me. I did not expect all of this to happen, but somewhere between pulling all nighters and writing my senior thesis it did happen. I never imagined playing soccer with All-Americans, but my teammates were. I never thought going to Chi Phi one night would lead me to mister right. I never expected to be in a sorority, but I love every single one of my sisters and will forever. I know that where ever I go in life it is because of the education I received here both in and out of the classroom. I learned about communicating and politics, but learned more importantly about life. Every experience at Wesleyan, good and bad, has helped shape me into the person I am today. It is because of the wonderful professors, the diverse students and the community that lives here that will help me achieve my dreams.

Seniors

...At the end of my junior year, I was elected to serve as the senior class president and was also chosen as the pledge master for my fraternity. Both of these positions were going to take a lot of time. However, each one of these positions has given me something that I will cherish long after my graduation. I have also been fortunate enough to share my experience with high school students by serving as a campus ambassador. To top it off, my fellow students selected me as the 2005 Homecoming King. I was extremely shocked and humbled to receive such an award. I was flattered that my classmates held me in such high regard. I coasted through the rest of the year and had nothing else exciting happen. This year would still go down as one of the best years of my life.

Underclassmen

Juniors at Wesleyan were put right in the middle of all that matters. Most juniors were too old to be distracted by college parties and were beginning to think about their future.

Sophomores returned with more confidence after a challenging first year. Freshmen students learned to adjust to the campus life and established friendships that would last forever.

All underclassmen at Wesleyan participated in a variety of college experiences.

- Freshman Seminar

Underclassmen

Although students spend considerable time together, they still retain their individuality. These unique differences can be observed in the classroom, on the field, or in the dormatory. Opportunities for leadership roles offer great ways to show the strengths of being an individual. Without a doubt, the Wesleyan underclassmen experience successfully allows students to be themselves.

Organizations

Each and every student on Wesleyan's campus can have a sense of belonging in any of the 80 plus organizations the college offers. An organization fair held at the beginning of the school year helped new students identify the various groups; there was something for everyone.

Wesleyan's organizations allowed students to broaden their overall college experience.

Greeks

West Virginia Wesleyan College offered a variety of Greek life to the campus community. With five fraternities and four sororities, approximately 30 percent of the student body belonged to a Greek organization. Greek affiliation offered opportunities in leadership, volunteerism, and scholarship.

The Greek organizations participated in several activities throughout the school year.

- Spring Sing
- Greek Week
- Blood Drives
- Philanthropy
- Recruitment
- Formals
- Retreats

Sports

In their 100+ years of competition, the West Virginia Wesleyan College athletic teams have posted an outstanding 123 West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Championships, more than any college in the conference.

The Bobcat athletes and coaches have also garnered numerous other awards over the years.

• Player of the Year • Coach of the Year • Rookie of the Year • Pitcher of the Year • All Conference Teams • Pool Records • National Championships • Governor's Cups • Commissioner's Cups

Exceptional

Sports

Winter and fall sports at West Virginia Wesleyan College have been dominate in the past several years. The football team has won two of the last three conference championships, the cross country teams have repeated conference titles, and the soccer teams have been dominate not only in conference but across the nation in Division II. Every fall and winter sport at Wesleyan has had special recognition for outstanding athletic performance in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Still Impressive

The West Virginia Wesleyan College football team ended a rough season with its third straight loss. Although the Bobcats finished over .500 (6-5, 4-3 WVIAC), a third place tie was not exactly what Wesleyan followers had anticipated.

Beginning the season at home against a surprising Wingate University team, the Bobcats dropped the opener for the third consecutive year, but the loss was no cause for worry as the previous two championship campaigns had also started under similar conditions.

Although the Bobcats did not win a third straight conference title, they still had some individuals receive special recognition. Three West Virginia Wesleyan football players were named to the 2004 Daktronics All-Northeast Region Team.

Seniors Alan Krutulis (Stewartsville, NJ) and Jared Surbaugh (Ronceverte, WV), along with sophomore T.R. Dues (South Charleston, WV), were among 12 WVIAC players chosen by the region's sports information directors. Krutulis and Surbaugh were first team choices and Dues was a second-team pick. Linebacker Krutulis and back TR Dues were also picked as members of Don Hansen's Football Gazette 2004 Division II All-American Team. Krutulis and Rachid Smith (Baltimore, MD) represented the Bobcats in the East Coast Bowl. Expectations for the future of Bobcat football remain high.

Around the World

The WVIAC has gone multinational, well, at least in terms of the men's soccer all-conference squads. The first team alone represents nine countries and four states by itself with only one selection hailing from the Mountain State (Charleston's Stanton Smith). No matter the origins, the most important fact is that the Bobcats placed six athletes among all three lists.

Sophomore midfielder Bond Phittayasri (Bowie, MD) is the lone Wesleyan star on the All-WVIAC First Team, one of only three total top honor repeat selections (WJU's Jade Jones, also the player of the year, and UC's Smith). Phittayasri proved pivotal in holding down the center of the 'Cats midfield with his aggressive on the ball defending and quick-strike counter-attacking ability.

Senior attackers Dino Dozgic (Eastbourne, England) and Stephen Fielding (Brighton, England), and sweeper Brad Mills (Elk River, MN) formed Wesleyan's All-WVIAC Second Team contingent. Dozgic's 22 points (eight goals, six assists) led the Bobcats offensive assault followed closely by Fielding's five goals and half a dozen assists (16 points). Mills, a converted midfielder, did much to solidify the 'Cats backline and spur attacks from the defensive third with well place long balls to his awaiting forwards.

Junior marking backs Chris Crews (Wheeling, WV) and Cheikh Sow (Dakar, Senegal) earned All-WVIAC Honorable Mention recognition. Crews often drew the assignment of shutting down the opponent's top offensive threat, a chore he seldom failed. Sow's play opened the eyes of many this season and definitely caught the attention of opposing strikers' with his almost impassable defensive reach.

Still Being Noticed

Normally, when people hear the phrase "some things never change," it's put into a negative context, but this case serves to the opposite. Although it wasn't represented by a player of the year or coach of year this season, Wesleyan women's soccer continued its strong run of all-conference performers by notching four selections on the WVIAC first team and another spot on the second team.

Senior strikers Shellie Cotton (Charleroi, PA) and Sarah St. Clair (Morgantown, WV) were joined by defenders Mary Abu Bakir (Altadena, CA) and Jackie Deutsch (Charleroi, PA) on the All-WVIAC First Team. Midfielder Kasie Thomas (Buckhannon, WV) was the lone Lady 'Cat named to the All-WVIAC Second Team.

Cotton, the 2003 WVIAC Player of the Year and 2001 WVIAC Freshman of the Year, earned her fourth first team honor but did so playing a different role. In season's past, Cotton was the most feared striker in the conference, but her experience and playmaking ability better suited this year's squad in the midfield. With that said, her eight tallies and six assists were enough to push her atop the Wesleyan all-time scoring lists with 62 goals, 34 assists and 158 total points.

St. Clair, a 2002 and 2003 second team selection, led the LBC with 11 goals this year. Her 30 career assists have her tied for second all-time in Wesleyan history. As a tribute to her athletic abilities and academic prowess, St. Clair is in line to earn her second straight selection to the CoSIDA National Academic All-America team.

Abu Bakir and Deutsch quite possibly are the top tandem of central defenders in the conference. Abu Bakir provides speed and aggressive man on defending while Deutsch is powerful, hard-nosed and fearless in any confrontation. Both being sophomores, the Wesleyan faithful should expect repeat performances for the next two seasons.

Thomas, a senior and honorable mention winner in 2003, is a true left side wing player, a rarity in soccer terms. Blessed with amazing speed and a powerful left boot, very few outside backers could contain her push down the sideline. Thomas finished the season with two goals and five assists.

Determined to Run

Support of any kind is welcomed by all athletes, no matter the sport. Wesleyan cross country certainly felt at home as Camp Virgil Tate was flooded with a sea of Bobcat parents and students, lending Wesleyan a rare "home field advantage" away from Buckhannon.

Aside from orange and black paint that literally covered them from head-to-toe, the Wesleyan track and field athletes who made the trip to Charleston wore t-shirts with creative slogans like "Get ur Done" and "Don't you wish you were.....Jesse's Girls" to spur on their beloved Bobcat cross country cousins. How true they would prove to be.

Head Coach Jesse Skiles' Lady Bobcat cross country athletes became the envy of the WVIAC by narrowly edging out the favored Alderson-Broaddus Lady Battlers 36-37 to capture their third consecutive conference title.

The men's team, racing with only half of the normal squad due to injury and other circumstances, leap-frogged over Wheeling Jesuit in the pre-race rankings to finish third behind first place Concord University and runner-up Alderson Broaddus.

The ladies title marks the 31st overall WVIAC crown for coach Skiles, more than any coach in conference history. Wesleyan's long-time mentor also secured his 27th WVIAC Coach of the Year Award.

With outstanding performances from both the men and women's teams, both earned a spot to the regional meet. The women finished ninth out of 25 teams with an average time of 23:48. The men's cross country placed 16th out of 26 teams with an average time of 36.07.

Wanted...

If you see a wanted sign up in front of the Wesleyan volleyball office, don't get the wrong impression. They're in need of some extra shelf space.

Thanks in part to both an outstanding regular season and impressive individual efforts, four Lady Bobcats earned All-WVIAC honors on the conference first or second teams. The junior trio of middle hitter Michelle Clelland (Richmond, VA), setter Jackie Murphy (Richmond, VA), and right side attacker Kaitlyn Shumate (Prince Frederick, MD) were all named to the All-WVIAC First Team while sophomore outside hitter Caitlin Smyth (Richmond, VA) was rewarded with a Second Team All-WVIAC selection.

Clelland, a 2003 second team selection, finished second in the conference in hitting percentage (.372) and in the top ten in blocks per game (1.35/g). Both totals led the way for the Lady Bobcats. Murphy, also a 2003 second team honoree, finished with 10.22 assists per game (1,012 in 99 games). The combination of Clelland and Murphy on quick hitters was nearly unstoppable for all conference opponents this season.

Shumate, the 2002 WVIAC freshman of the year and second team selection each of the last two campaigns, finished fourth in the conference with a .326 hitting percentage. She also racked up 1.01 blocks per game and 2.68 kills per game.

Smyth, a transfer from Armstrong Atlantic College, finished just out of the conference top ten averaging 2.90 kills per game. She also accounted for 2.57 digs per game.

Splish, Splash

The 2004-2005 swimming season was eventfull to say the least. Aside from two senior women, Wesleyan had an extremely young team. The men went undefeated in the conference in duel meet competition and finished behind Fairmont State University, while the women were second to Wheeling Jesuit University by one point!

There were 10 conference championship swims with countless personal bests throughout the year; in fact, every swimmer on the team could lay claim to a personal best at some point in the year.

Coaches were very optimistic about next fall as the team loses no males to graduation and are looking to bring in one of the strongest recruiting classes in a long time. The women, however, are graduating two of the most prolific athletes of this program's history. Monica Morin, a four time NCAA national qualifier, left behind school records that would be around for a long time; while Monica Heinrich an NCAA national qualifier, who owns the most team records of any swimmer at West Virginia Wesleyan, would leave a void in the sprint and breaststroke events that would not be easy to replace.

Wesleyan will use this team's lack of experience as leverage to improve upon in the next few seasons. They will only get faster, and with strong recruiting classes coming in, both teams will be aiming to win the conference title in 2006.

Value of Experience

The 2004-05 men's basketball team started the preseason with very high hopes of erasing memories of the disappointing campaign of 2003-04 in which the team only managed three wins. With the presence of four seniors, Jelani Watson, Lynell Ingram, Jermaine Garrard, and Ted Winovich, the coaching staff was very anxious to see what this edition of Bobcat basketball would accomplish.

The preseason scrimmages seemed to indicate that this year's squad would more than make up for the lackluster shooting performances of the previous season. However, it turned out to be "fool's gold" as the playing season unfolded. Game after game, the team found itself in positions to win but failed to do so, primarily due to poor shooting, and lack of consistently good team defense. The perimeter game which was so crucial to success virtually disappeared. Thus, the Bobcats were very inconsistent offensively.

Since the championship season of 2001-02, when graduation took seven seniors, it has been a constant struggle to reload with impact players who could mentally and physically handle the Division II level of competition required. This season saw the team having to rely a great deal on the inexperience of eight freshmen, a junior college transfer, and four returning players of which only three had extensive playing time. Nevertheless, against very formidable opponents, the Bobcats still found themselves in a position to win numerous times. Bobcats played hard, but the supporting cast surrounding the two all conference candidates, Jelani Watson and Lynell Ingram, never really materialized. These two senior players were in the top five in scoring and rebounding for most of the season.

Coaches must express their sincerest appreciation to the four seniors who went down fighting game after game and never lost their zeal and intensity, whether in a game or practice situation. Also, Coach Miller's sincerest respect and gratitude goes out to his assistant coach, Chris Chavers.

If experience has any value at all, it should display itself next season as seven players will bring a lot of playing time and valuable experience back to the court. Those players, Jared Chafin, Cole Ellis, A.J. Mason, Stephen Nichols, Dureyea Garnett, Chris Smith, and Brian Inge are expected to take the lead in returning the winning ways back to West Virginia Wesleyan College and Bobcat basketball. Copy by Charles Miller, head coach

Determination

The 2004-05 edition of the Lady Bobcats proved to be much improved over last season's 13-14 record. The ladies finished the season with a 17-12 overall mark and a WVIAC finish of fifth place with an 11-7 record. The team was picked to finish in ninth place in the preseason coaches' poll.

The Lady Bobcats won two tournaments: the Covered Bridge Classic hosted by Alderson-Broaddus and the West Virginia State Christmas Tournament. The team was lead by senior post Frances Carvajal and sophomore guard Sarah Grab.

Carvajal broke the single season double-double record with 20 consecutive games while averaging 20 points and 12 rebounds with a shooting percentage of nearly 50 percent. Carvajal scored a career high 36 points while shooting 14-20 from the floor against Shepherd University. Also, Carvajal was a first team all-conference selection, WVIAC player of the week, and first team all-tournament selection.

Sarah Grab was also a tremendous asset to the Lady Bobcat basketball squad. Grab became a 3-point threat for the Lady Bobcats with a shooting percentage of nearly 49 percent. Grab averaged 18 points per game while being selected as a member of the second team all conference, player of the week, and 2005 ESPN The Magazine Academic All District II College Division Women's Basketball Team.

Senior guard Heather Kauffman was the floor general for the Lady Bobcats starting all 29 games while averaging nearly 30 minutes per contest. The Lady Bobcats defeated eventual WVIAC Tournament champions Wheeling Jesuit University 68-63 on their home floor giving WJU their first home loss of the year.

Coach Tierney commented, "This squad grew closer together as the season went on, and achieved more than a lot of people thought they could. Led by outstanding leadership, the team was awarded the Sam Marchio Sportsmanship Award for the fourth time in five years. Their exemplary conduct earned them respect league wide. This team was a lot of fun to coach and I thank them for their dedication and hard work."

Expect Competition

The West Virginia Wesleyan men's tennis team ended its season with a 5-4 loss against third-seeded West Liberty State in the semifinals of the WVIAC Tournament. The 'Cats had advanced through the quarterfinals with a 5-1 victory over seventh-seeded Fairmont State.

Senior Paul Nelson was named to the 2005 WVIAC men's tennis first team. Playing No. 1 singles and doubles the entire season, Nelson finished with an overall record of 7-4 in doubles matches and 4-7 in singles matches. In the West Virginia Conference, the senior was 5-4 in doubles and 4-4 in singles.

The Bobcats finished the season at 9-5 overall, and 8-1 in the WVIAC.

The Lady Bobcats were knocked out during the first round of the WVIAC Tournament in Charleston, WV by the Concord Mountain Lions. The Lady 'Cats long run of all conference selections continued as senior Ellen Brosh was named to the All-WVIAC women's tennis first team. Brosh was the Lady Bobcats' most consistent player this season as she competed at number one singles and doubles for the entire year, compiling a 6-3 singles record and a 5-4 doubles mark.

The Lady 'Cats ended the year 4-5 overall, but their competitive finish at the end of the season is a promising sign for the 2005 squad.

Impressive Wins

Hitting and defense were the main ingredients for WV Wesleyan's Bobcats in the 2005 baseball campaign. Coach Randy Tenney's 'Cats averaged nearly ten hits and more than six runs per game in manufacturing a 24-14 record.

As a team, the Bobcats belted the ball at a 312 pace, cracking out 354 hits in 1,133 official at-bats.

Defensively, the Bobcats were guilty of only 63 miscues in 1,226 chances for a fielding average of 949. They turned twenty-two double plays. The pitching corps, although surrendering 4.90 runs per game, proved tough in the clutches. In 275 2/3 innings, the 'Cat hurlers issued just 91 bases-on-balls, while striking out 205.

Sophomore pitcher-outfielder Eric Stettnisch led the way at the plate with a sizzling 386 average. He pounded out 39 hits in 101 trips, including a team-high nine doubles and six homeruns. He led the squad in runs-batted-in with 35.

Leading the mound staff was junior right-hander Art Yerecic with a 6-1 record. He hurled 46 innings, completing three of his seven starts. He surrendered 62 hits and 27 runs, of which 22 were earned, walked only eight and struck out thirty-five.

After a slow start, the Bobcats wound up second in the Southern Division behind eventual WVIAC Conference champion West Virginia State.

The Bobcats knocked off the Concord Mountain Lions by a 2-1 count in a "play-in" game to earn a berth in the final four showdown at Princenton's Hunnicutt Field. They then whipped Shepherd's Rams by a 7-4 margin but fell to West Virginia State's Yellow Jackets in the winner's bracket finals, 8-3, and were eliminated by the Davis & Elkins Senators, 9-6.

West Virginia Wesleyan baseball was honored with five all-conference selections as voted on by the league's head coaches in Princeton, West Virginia. The following players were named to All-WVIAC Conference Teams: Rick Bergen, Eric Stettnisch, Justin Rozich, Art Yerecic, and Craig Hriblan.

Familiar Success

After taking a one year hiatus from tournament glory, Wesleyan Lady Bobcat softball returned to its familiar spot atop the league by out-gunning the West Liberty State College Hilltoppers 8-3 in Saturday afternoon's WVIAC Softball Tournament Championship in Vienna, WV. Wesleyan placed a tournament-high four players on the WVIAC All-Tournament Team. Sansbury, Baise, Keith, and Durst all received recognition for their outstanding weekend efforts. Wesleyan's tournament victory marked its third in the last four years and 12 th dating back to 1990.

For the fifth year in a row, Wesleyan was one of six teams in the Great Lakes Region to make it to the NCAA Division II Regional Tournament, but for the fifth consecutive time the Lady Bobcats left the tourney without a date to the national championship.

In much the same fashion as last year, Wesleyan (42-18) was eliminated from post-season play by a two-run single from the Northwood University first baseman in the bottom of the seventh inning.

In 2004, the Lady 'Cats were victimized by an RBI single in the bottom of the eighth inning from Grand Valley State, knocking them out of the tournament.

As impressive a season as the Wesleyan softball team had on the diamond, it was easy to forget that all twenty athletes doubled as students. Two Lady Bobcats will make such memory lapses tougher for the future.

Sophomore Kareen Bilotta (Fairmont, WV) and junior Meghan Keith (Morgantown, WV) earned spots on the 2005 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District II College Division Softball Teams for recognition of their excellence in both the classroom and on the field. Bilotta was named to the All-District First Team, while Keith was tabbed for the All-District Third Team.

The Lady Bobcats finished their season with a very impressive 42-18 record.

Catcher Mandy Sansbury awaits the pitch while the umpire is ready to make the call. Sansbury is from Ripley, WV and transferred to Wesleyan to be a part of the succesful softball team.

Back-to-Back Crowns

West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats earned the men's and women's championships at the 2005 WVIAC Track & Field Championships, the second time the Bobcats have swept the conference meet in as many years. The 'Cats raced past Wheeling Jesuit 256-114 in the women's showdown, while they out-scored the Cardinals 215-121 in the men's competition and they brought home seven individual trophies.

Wesleyan's own two-sport standout Frances Carvajal repeated as the Women's Field Athlete of the Year. The All-WVIAC basketball player captured victories in the discus and shot put. The senior also placed third in the hammer throw. Carvajal was also named the WVIAC Women's Championship MVP. Additionally, senior Kelly Terhune was selected as WVIAC Track Athlete of the Year.

On the men's side, freshman Josh Natali was named WVIAC Rookie of the Year and Men's Championship MVP.

Veteran Wesleyan head coach Jesse Skiles was named by his peers as the WVIAC Coach of the Year for both men's and women's teams. A record number of athletes joined coach Skiles this year, forty-one men and forty women.

2005 Senior Student Athletic Trainers

Right: Travis Rommel, Beth Massie, Bri Bennett, April Burnell, and Bobby Smith. These senior student athletic trainers are now eligible to take the national athletic trainers' certification exam after completing their course requirements at Wesleyan.

Athletic Health Care

The athletic training major at West Virginia Wesleyan College is designed to provide students with the theoretical knowledge and understanding of the profession of athletic training. The major blends classroom instruction and structured clinical experiences through a process that results in the student gaining eligibility to sit for the National Athletic Trainers' Association Board of Certification examination upon graduation from Wesleyan. "An athletic trainer is a qualified allied health professional educated and experienced in the management of health care problems associated with sports participation."

This fall, under the direction of Dr. Jeremy Sibold, the athletic training program received reaccreditation by the JRC-AT for a period of seven years. Twenty-seven students were enrolled in Wesleyan's program this past year. Senior Bobby Smith was named WVATA Student Athletic Trainer of the Year and will return to campus in the fall to serve as a one-year intern. Previously, Smith had three internships with professional baseball teams,including Pittsburgh Pirates and Cleveland Indians.

Several seniors planned to attend graduate school after Wesleyan. Two will attend graduate schools for physical therapy: Travis Rummel at Old Dominion(VA) and Krystal Saverino at Slippery Rock(PA). Tracy Tutt will attend physician assistant school in Maine.

Sophomore Ashley Arnott received a NATA Scholarship for her achievements and Karen Eder interned with the Baltimore Orioles.

Program staff members included Wanda Swiger, Rae Emrick, Brian Potter, and Tammie Hammon. Swiger accepted a position as Program Director at Huntingdon College in Montgomery, Alabama after she received her doctoral degree from West Virginia University in June.

Sports

Wesleyan is proud of its student-athletes and the success they enjoy in the classroom and on the playing fields and courts. They represent Wesleyan's balanced and successful athletic tradition. The 2005 season was no different as the Bobcats won WVIAC titles in softball, men's and women's track and field. Also, Wesleyan earned its 14th consecutive Commissioner's Cup. The Cup is awarded to the institution with the highest cumulative score based on the school's ranking after completion of each sport season in the WVIAC.

Execute

Closing

Throughout the year, the Wesleyan community exceeded expectations with the outstanding efforts of its administration, faculty, staff, and students.

Spring activities brought closure to the academic year. Significant announcements of President Haden's future retirement and the departure of long-time Dean of Students Trina Dobberstein impacted the future for Wesleyan. As members of the class of 2005 set out to execute their future endeavors, so did the Wesleyan family in its search for new leadership for the college.

Awards Convocation

Senior Activity Keys are awarded to the following: Adrian Brown, Heidi Burger, Kristen Buttermore, Susasn Marshall, Erica Milanese, Monica Morin, Robert Morris, Joshua Olcott, Jessica Peak, Sallie Richards, Jacob Schwertfeger, Amanda Smith, Robert Smith, Justin Spratt, Matthew Tolliver, and Sara Wood.

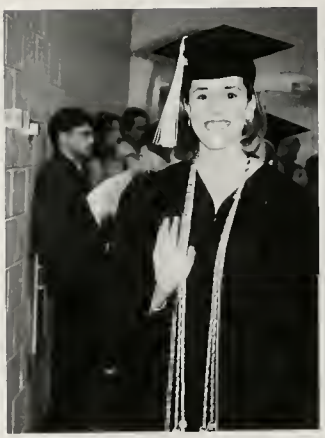
Dean of Students Trina Dobberstein presents the International Student Ambassador Award to senior Hyun Joo Yoon.

Community Council President Josh Thompson presents Dr. Eric Waggoner with the Outstanding Faculty Award for 2005.

Leanna Laskey receives the 2005 Greek Woman of the Year Award from John Bohman, Greek advisor.

Graduation Weekend activities included a Senior Picnic at Stonewall Jackson Resort, Baccalaureate, Senior Banquet, departmental programs, and family time. William O. Goodman, managing partner of Northwestern Mutual Financial Network of Atlanta, Georgia, gave the Commencement Address on "Your Verse...Your Choice". At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Class of 2005 proudly joined the Wesleyan Alumni as the newest members of the Orange Line.



Graduation

On May 1, 2005 members of the graduating class of West Virginia Wesleyan College gathered in Rockefeller Center to celebrate the end of their undergraduate education. Approximately two hundred fifty seniors received diplomas during the ceremony.

2005 Murmurmontis Staff

Editor: Joshua Gross
Co-Editor (Fall Semester): Caragh Kelley
Adviser: Nancy Porter
Workstudy: Wendy Pittman
Photographers: Paul Roncone & Seth Kitzmiller
Staffers: Alicia Buchanan

Volume ninety-five of West Virginia Wesleyan's Murmurmontis was printed by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas using Elite Vision for Windows 2000. The 1000 copies of the 9x12 yearbook contain 144 pages printed on 80# enamel. The cover is lithocote with a gloss laminate finish. The endsheets are plain white. The opening section and the senior section are the two four-color signatures in the book. Spotcolor is process blue #9 and is used in various sections of the book. Lucida Calligraphy Italic type font is used on the cover, opening, closing, and on the divider pages. Various fonts are also used throughout the book. Portrait and group photos were taken by Dave and Bob Mihalko of Contemporary Studios in Medina, Ohio. Staff photographers Paul Roncone, Seth Kitzmiller and Bill Mahoney provided the majority of the candids. Digital pictures were used from several departments, websites and the office of College Relations. The 2005 theme "Exceeding Expectations" was created by Josh Gross and Caragh Kelley. Special thank yous go to Doug and Margaret Richardson, Taylor representatives. The Murmurmontis staff may be contacted by phone at (304) 473-8482 or by email at murmurmontis@wvwc.edu.
